IN "THAT'S A LOT OF OIL"

STORY BY CHARLES BIRO

BREAKING A PENCIL IS A LOT EASIER THAN REPAIRING IT! YOU'D NEED GLUE, SPLINTS, STRING AND PATIENCE! HOW MUCH EASIER IT WOULD BE TO SNAP IT IN TWO WITH YOUR FINGERS! IT'S ALWAYS MUCH EASIER TO DESTROY THAN TO CONSTRUCT! SO IT IS WITH OUR LIVES! IT TAKES ONLY A LITTLE GREED, SOME STUPIDITY AND SOME BAD COMPANY TO WRECK A LIFE! HAVING BOTH KINDS OF LUCK, GOOD OR BAD, IS ALSO A MATTER OF CHOICE! IT'S VERY EASY FOR A MAN TO COMMIT A WILLFUL WRONG, BUT IT'S MIGHTY HARD TO CORRECT IT! A WRONG DOING INVITES NOTHING BUT HARD LUCK! THE GOOD LUCK A MAN MIGHT HAVE COULD ONLY PROLONG THE FULL IMPACT OF THE PUNISHMENT HE WILL HAVE TO SUFFER! THIS STORY IS ABOUT AN EVIL MAN WHO CROWDED HIS LUCK...

DAREDEVIL

AUGUST 10, 1858 - LAST NIGHT THE MIRACLE WE HAVE BEEN PRAYING FOR CAME TO PASS. OUR FOOD WAS GONE AND NOTHING TO EASE HIS PAIN, WE FEARED ANDREW WOULD DIE! AND THEN WE FOUND THE DEPOSIT OF OIL, AND IN DESPERATION, FED SOME TO ANDREW. THIS MORNING HE WAS COMPLETELY CURED.

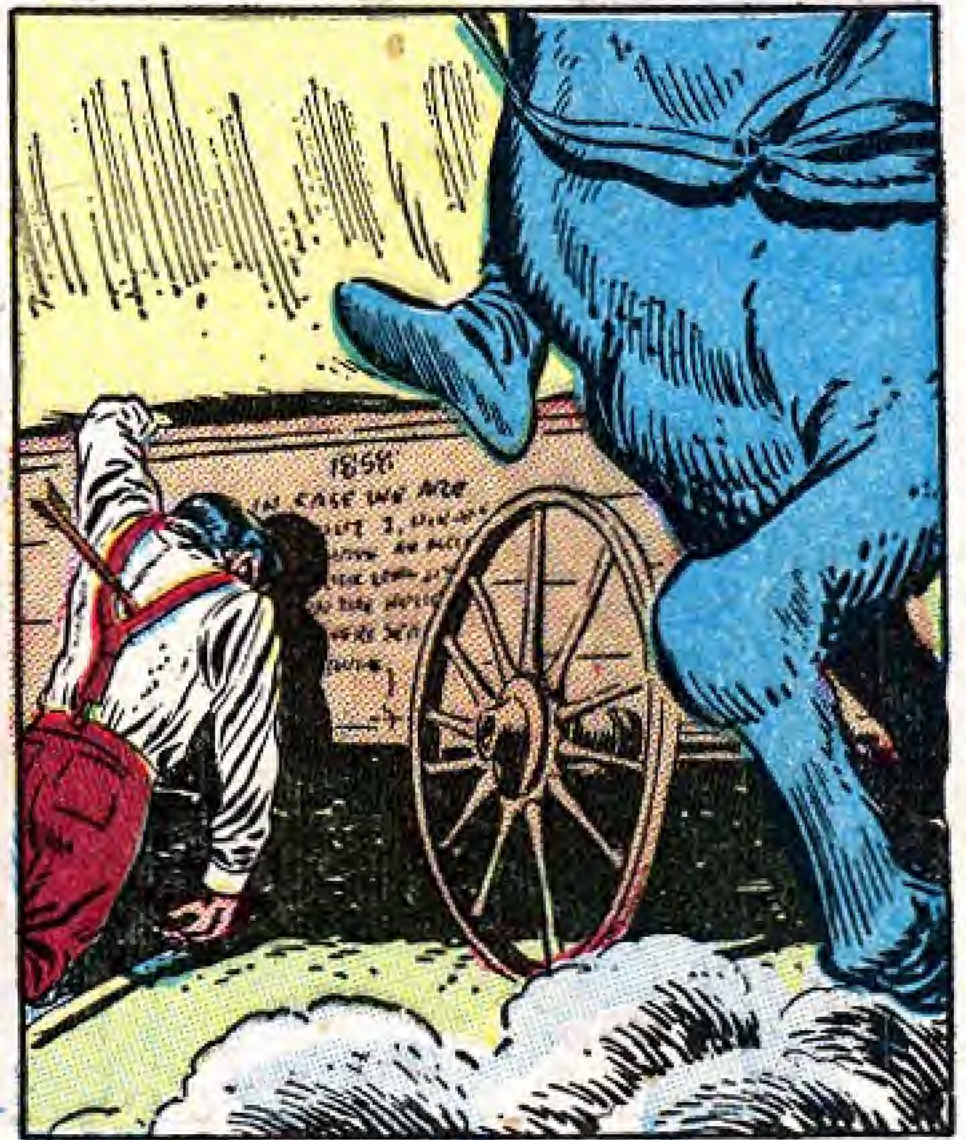

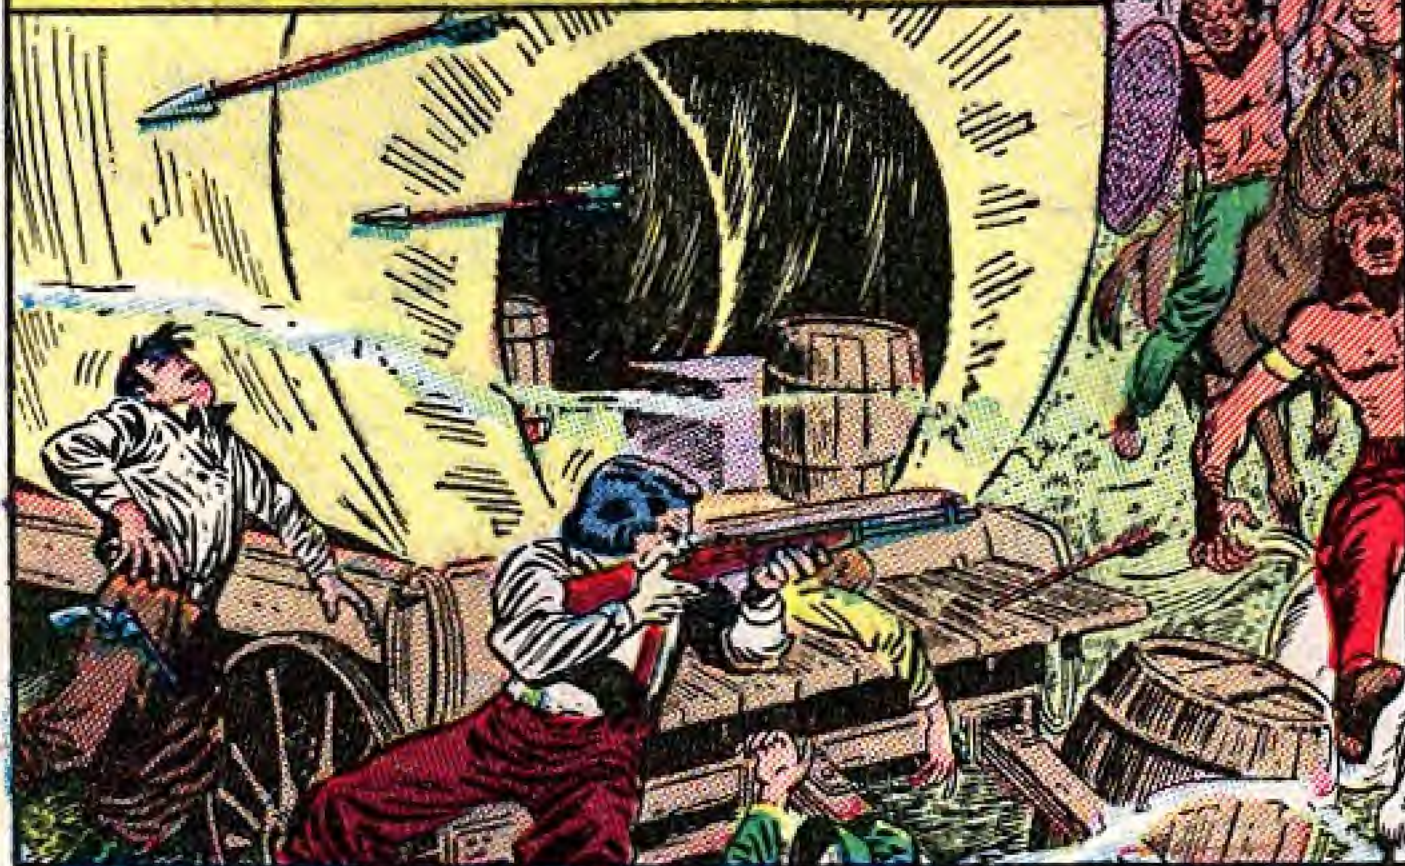

AUGUST 11, 1858 - WE HAVE ALL BEEN DRINKING THE OIL, AND HAVE NEVER FELT BETTER IN OUR LIVES. WE ARE BRINGING SOME WITH US IN BLADDER BAGS. IF WE GET OUT OF THIS ALIVE, WE WILL BECOME RICH FROM SELLING THE OIL AS A POWERFUL MEDICINE. WE HAVE SEEN NO INDIANS FOR THREE DAYS...

AUGUST 12, 1858 - THE INDIANS ATTACKED THIS MORNING WHILE OUR HORSES WERE GRAZING, AND THE HORSES HAVE BOLTED. AS I WRITE THESE WORDS, WE HEAR ANOTHER ATTACK. WE HAVE ACCOUNTED FOR OURSELVES WELL, BUT WE CANNOT HOPE TO HOLD THEM OFF FOREVER.

SO THAT THIS RECORD WILL BE SAVED, I WILL HIDE UNDER THE WAGON SEAT. EVEN AS I WRITE THIS, I CAN HEAR THE WILD CRIES OF THE REDMAN...

A HUNDRED YEARS AGO! WE MUST BE THE FIRST ONES TO FIND THIS!

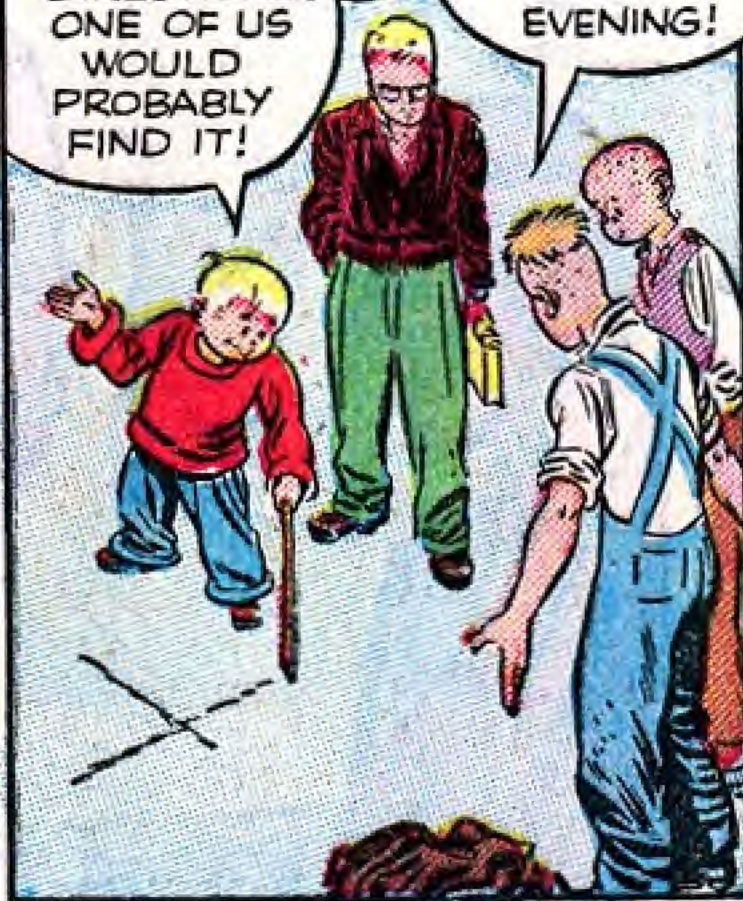

I WONDER IF ANYBODY'S EVER DISCOVERED THAT OIL?

MAYBE NOT! THIS IS PRETTY WILD COUNTRY!

ACCORDING TO THE BOOK, IT'S ONLY A DAY'S RIDE FROM HERE! WE COULD SPLIT UP, AND CHECK ALL FOUR DIRECTIONS! ONE OF US WOULD PROBABLY FIND IT!

'The Tables Turned'

Crimebuster couldn't understand the cool reception he received when he returned home from the inter-school baseball conference. He came back full of new ideas to present to the high school team, new schedules, and new rules. Crimebuster had been voted unanimously by the high school team to represent them at the conference of high school teams, and Crimebuster attended feeling quite honored and flattered. But, during the week Crimebuster was away much had happened about which he was unaware. In fact, some members of the team really wondered whether Crimebuster had attended the conference at all. Not only did some members of the team doubt it, but sundry reports from various people had come in that raised considerable doubt.

One man in town had reported that he'd seen Crimebuster in the vicinity of the Super Market shortly after the place had been robbed last week. He had assumed, of course, that Crimebuster was there to investigate the robbery. On learning that Crimebuster was out of town attending the conference, he began to wonder.

Not only had the Super Market been robbed that week, but the Hardware Store had been broken into after hours. Mr. Klepper, the owner, had closed the store and the robbery occurred shortly after he left. He returned immediately and he, also, ran into Crimebuster. It seemed perfectly natural to him to have Crimebuster there on the spot after a robbery, until he learned that Crimebuster was out of town.

As Crimebuster stood on the platform addressing the high school audience, he was aware of an undercurrent of restlessness. Usually, he held his audience and he felt that the boys had confidence in him, but today he was seriously doubting it. He didn't feel that any were listening, since there was a great deal of squirming, whispering back and forth and all in all, quite complete lack of attention. After Crimebuster sat down, having received only perfunctory applause, he worried and wondered.

Crimebuster left the high school alone after the assembly and walked slowly down to Loover's office. Usually Crimebuster was accompanied by his squad of admirers, but this time he walked alone. Having just returned from the conference and gone directly to the high school, Crimebuster had not checked in Loover's office since his return. As he walked in the door he was surprised at the curious and quizzical expression on Loover's face.

"Well, C. B.," asked Loover half-heartedly, "how was your trip?"

"Wonderful!" replied Crimebuster enthusiastically. "I came back with a lot of new ideas for the team."

"That's good," muttered Loover, not looking Crimebuster in the eye.

"Loover!" demanded Crimebuster. "What on earth is the matter? Something's eating you and something was definitely wrong with the boys at high school. I just jumped off the train this morning and went directly to the high school. Everyone I've seen had looked at me with suspicion. The boys at high school hardly listened to me, they kept shifting in the seats and whispering to each other. I just plain don't understand. What is it?"

"Well, C. B.," answered Loover hesitantly, "I really don't know how to tell you. But, knowing you, I don't know why I'm being such a doubtful fool. Here's the story. Last week we had two robberies here in town. The Super Market and the Hardware store. On both occasions you were seen on the spot after the robberies. The two witnesses who saw you are trusted citizens and thought nothing of seeing you there as you always are "Johnny on the Spot" when something like that occurs. But when they accidentally learned that you were supposed to be out of town, then the doubt began to spread."

"So," mused Crimebuster, "that's the trouble."

"And," continued Loover, "I truly can't believe it. But in this town rumors move thick and fast and, the way crime has spread around here lately, I think every man is suspicious of his next door neighbor."

"This is the worst I've heard yet," said Crimebuster incensed. "Now, must I prove that I was at the conference to regain faith with my fellow citizens?"

"I don't know, C. B.," answered Loover. "I think the best thing to do is just wait it out. It's probably better if you do nothing but try to bear up under suspicious eyes."

"I think you're right, Loover," answered the depressed Crimebuster.

Crimebuster was inclined to believe there was a phony C.B. in town and the best thing to do would be to make his own presence as little known as possible. If the phony Crimebuster could believe he was still out of town he was likely to strike again. Crimebuster found that he had to work alone. Only Loover was convinced that Crimebuster had nothing to do with the crimes of the previous week.

Crimebuster shed his usual apparel, his letter sweater, and dressed in very inconspicuous clothes. Much as he hated to, he turned Squeeks over to Loover, feeling that the presence of Squeeks on his shoulder was a sure means of identification. Crimebuster called on the principal of the school and was greeted coolly and with suspicion.

"Mr. Grimes," said Crimebuster. "No matter what you think, I'm determined to solve these crimes. I know I was at the conference, but I would prefer for the crook to think I am still there. Therefore, I would rather not have my talk of this morning publicized."

"I didn't intend to publicize it, Crimebuster," answered Mr. Grimes. "I hate to be one of the majority who are eyeing you with suspicion, but until the criminal is brought in, I don't feel that any of us can trust anyone."

"I understand," answered the downcast Crimebuster. "But your cooperation will be appreciated."

Crimebuster hated to leave Loover's office for the next few days. Not only because of the cool reception which was given him on the street, but he hoped to be in the right spot to hear any news of further hold-ups or robberies.

Late one night, however, hardly able to keep his eyes open any longer, Crimebuster left the office to go home and catch some sleep. As he got into his car, he noticed that the gas gauge registered almost empty. In spite of his sleepy state he thought he'd better get it filled. Driving into the nearest station, he sleepily told the attendant to fill the tank. The attendant apparently didn't recognize him in his drab clothes, though Crimebuster knew him slightly.

The attendant merely said, "yes sir." and then went about his business.

Crimebuster was almost dozing as the gas poured into the tank. The approach of another car aroused him and he looked around, but the car was too far back to see clearly.

"Be with you in a minute," yelled the attendant. He then made quick work of collecting from Crimebuster, then rushed over to the other car.

Crimebuster was ready to drive on home to get some much needed rest when he heard the station attendant say in greeting to the driver of the other car, "Hello, C. B., understand you just got back from the conference?"

"Sure did," answered an unfamiliar voice.

Crimebuster immediately drove out of the station and around the corner. He quickly phoned the police then crept back to the side of the station. While the attendant was filling the car with gas, the occupant of the car got out. Crimebuster was shocked at his appearance. He was dressed exactly as C.B. always dressed and he even looked like him. The phony Crimebuster was toying with the hood of the car, and got it open. He didn't look inside. He seemed to be looking in the station to see if anyone was there. Noting that the attendant was alone, he waited, pretending to look under the hood. He reached toward his hip, then the attendant came pleasantly forward and asked, "May I check the oil, C.B.?"

"Never mind, Stick 'em up!" He drew a gun from his pocket and forced the attendant into the station. With the gun buried in the small of his back the attendant could do little else but go to the cash drawer, open it and hand over the money.

Just at this moment, a squad car raced into the station. Two policemen jumped from the car while Crimebuster ran around the corner. The phony Crimebuster started to make a break but was surrounded on three sides and the situation was impossible.

"All right, C.B. Hop in the car," ordered one of the cops. "You're under arrest. I never would have thought it of you. But I guess you learned the tricks of the trade from all your experience in crime bustin'."

"Wait a minute, Saul," piped up the real Crimebuster. "Don't you recognize me?"

Saul, not moving the gun from the phony Crimebuster's ribs, looked around at the nondescript character that was Crimebuster.

"No, I don't," muttered Saul, "and what has that got to do with C.B.?"

"I'm C.B.," answered Crimebuster.

"Don't hand me that stuff," answered Saul as he herded the crook into the car.

"Wait a minute, Sergeant," interrupted the filling station attendant. "He's right! He is C.B.! This other guy's an imposter. Can't you tell the difference in their voices. In fact, this first guy — the real C.B., came in the station first and I didn't recognize him. The second one, the phony, I thought was real — but it's only because of his clothes. You'll notice when he starts talking."

"Well, I'll be," said the Sergeant, as he scratched his head. "I guess you're right. Oh, so you're the one who phoned us C.B.?"

"Yes," answered Crimebuster, "but I was afraid to say it was C.B. for fear you'd think . . . I don't know what."

"Man, oh, man, am I ever relieved," answered the happy Sergeant. "I sure hated the thought of your turnin' crooked. Hop in C.B. Let's take this phony in and lock him up!"

Health 100% Better
Through Dynamic Tension
"The benefits are wonderful! The first week my arm increased one inch, my chest two inches, and my health is 100% better. Dynamic Tension is the best in the world."

—W. E., Ohio

I could fill page after page of this magazine with enthusiastic reports from men all over the entire world! But what you want to know is—
"What can Atlas do for ME?"

Just give me 15 minutes a day of your spare time—right in the privacy of your own home. That's all I ask. Even in that short time I'll start giving RESULTS. The kind of results that you can SEE, FEEL, and MEASURE with a tape! And there's no cost to you if I fail!

I can broaden your shoulders, strengthen your back, develop your whole muscular system, INSIDE and OUTSIDE! I can add inches to your chest, give you a vise-like grip, make those legs of yours lithe and powerful. I can shoot new strength into your old backbone, exercise those inner organs, help you cram your body so full of pep, vigor and red-blooded vitality that you won't feel there's even "standing room" left for weakness and that lazy feeling! Before I get through with you I'll have your whole frame "measured" to a nice new, beautiful suit of muscle! And you'll be using the method which many great athletes use for keeping in condition — prize fighters, wrestlers, baseball and football players, etc.

What's My Secret?

"Dynamic Tension"! That's the ticket! The identical natural method that I myself developed to change my body from the scrawny, skinny-chested weakling I was at 17 to my present super-man physique!

Thousands of other fellows are becoming marvelous physical specimens—my way. I give you NO gadgets or contraptions to fool with. When you have learned to develop your Strength through "Dynamic Tension" you can laugh at artificial muscle-makers. You simply utilize the DORMANT muscle power in your own God-given body—watch it increase and multiply double-quick into real solid MUSCLE.
